terday regarding the Arkansas Fair Managers association and the dispute over their exact plan for a state-owned liquor dispensary system Bob Shivers, Hope Stock Show manager and chairman of the association's special committee on the dispensary said today:

"The Arkansas Democrat's quotation of the stand taken by L. H. Autry, president of the Arkansas Fair Managers association, to the effect that we plan to take over only the wholesale end of the liquor business is an old statement that has no bearing on the proposition before the state today.

"Our organization is absolutely tions bill of the 83rd Congress, an and 20e for children. going down the line for a statewide liquor dispensary system, both retail and wholesale, patterned on the general plan already in use in 17 other states. "This policy was determined upon at our committee meeting in Little Rock last Saturday, April 18. Mr. Autry, owing to stormy weather, was unable to attend that session from his home in Mississippi county. The quotation credited to Mr. Autry by the Arkansas Democrat and repeated by The Star yesterday, to the effect that the fair groups are going to ask for a liquor dispensary system at the wholesale level only represented a much earlier statement by Mr. Autry - in fact, the 'wholesale only idea was tentatively discussed at our state-wide meeting in Little Rock April 10, "But our final decision was reached only last Saturday, April 18, in a meeting which Mr. Autry couldn't attend - and that decision was to push the dispensary plan for both the retail and wholesale liquor business.

"There's really no misunderstanding about the Arkansas Fair Managers association and where it stands on this question. Our stand was taken only last Saturday, and earlier statements have no bearing on the matter.
